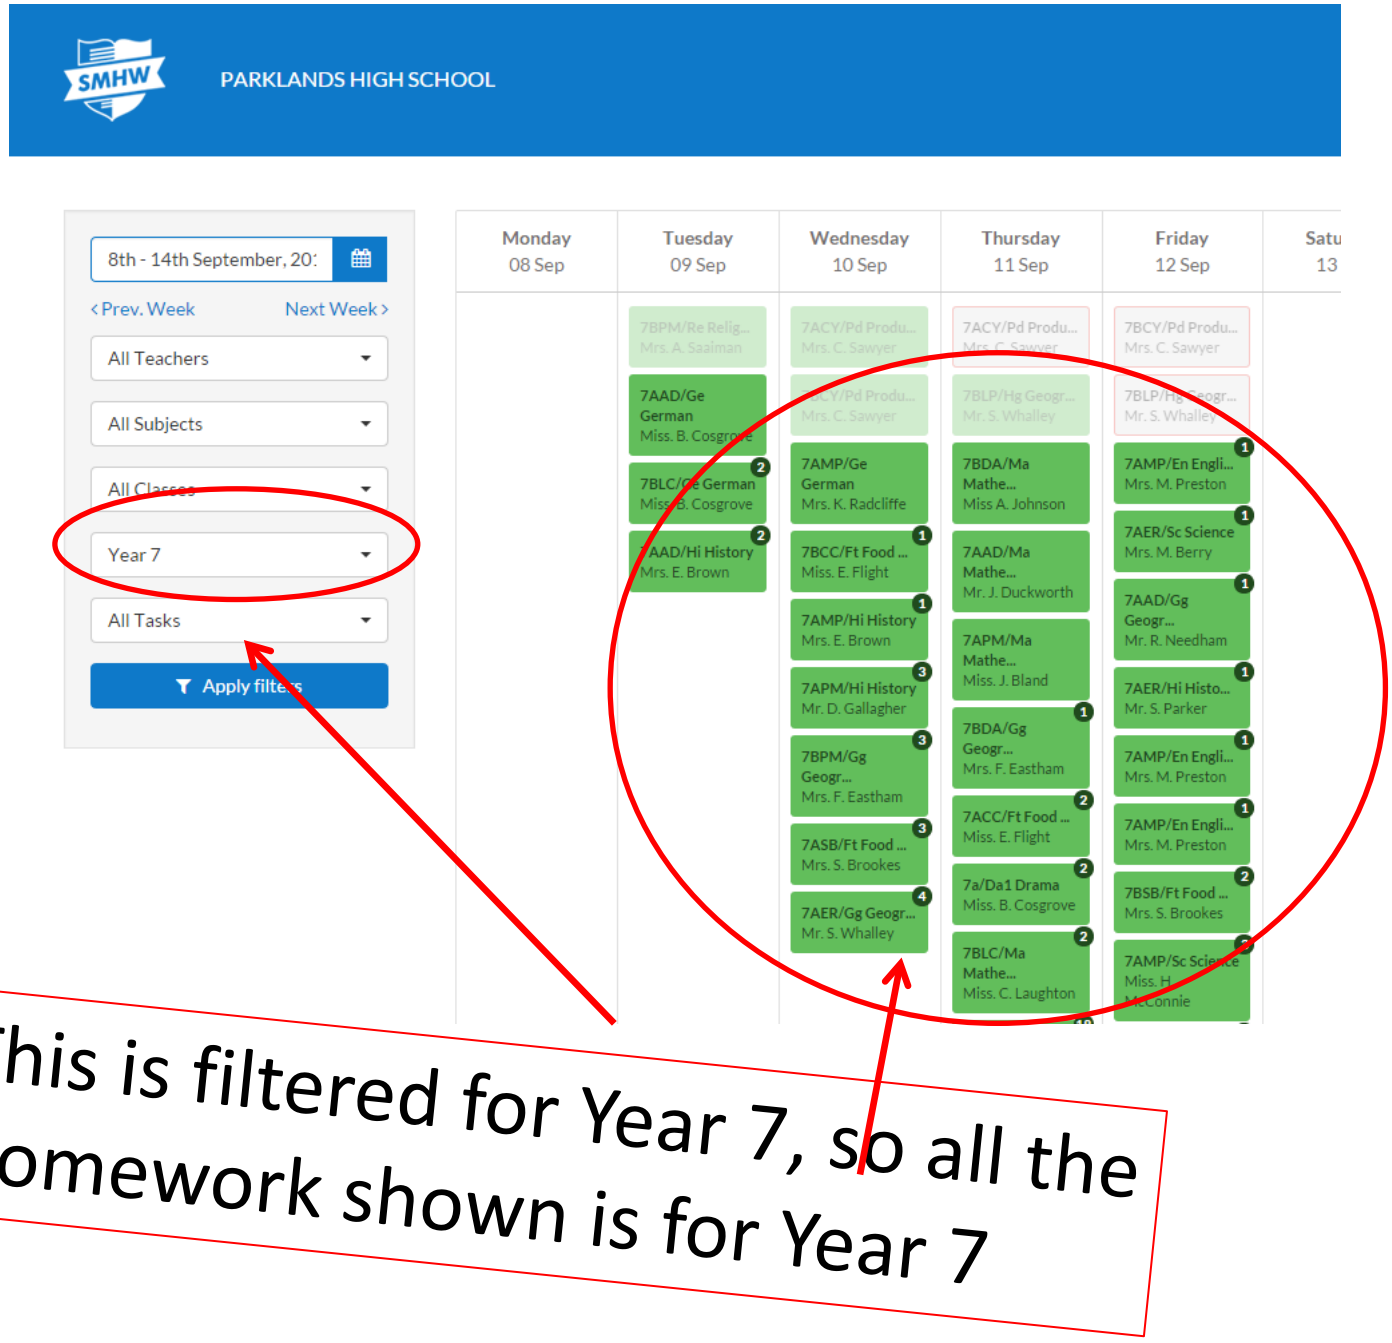
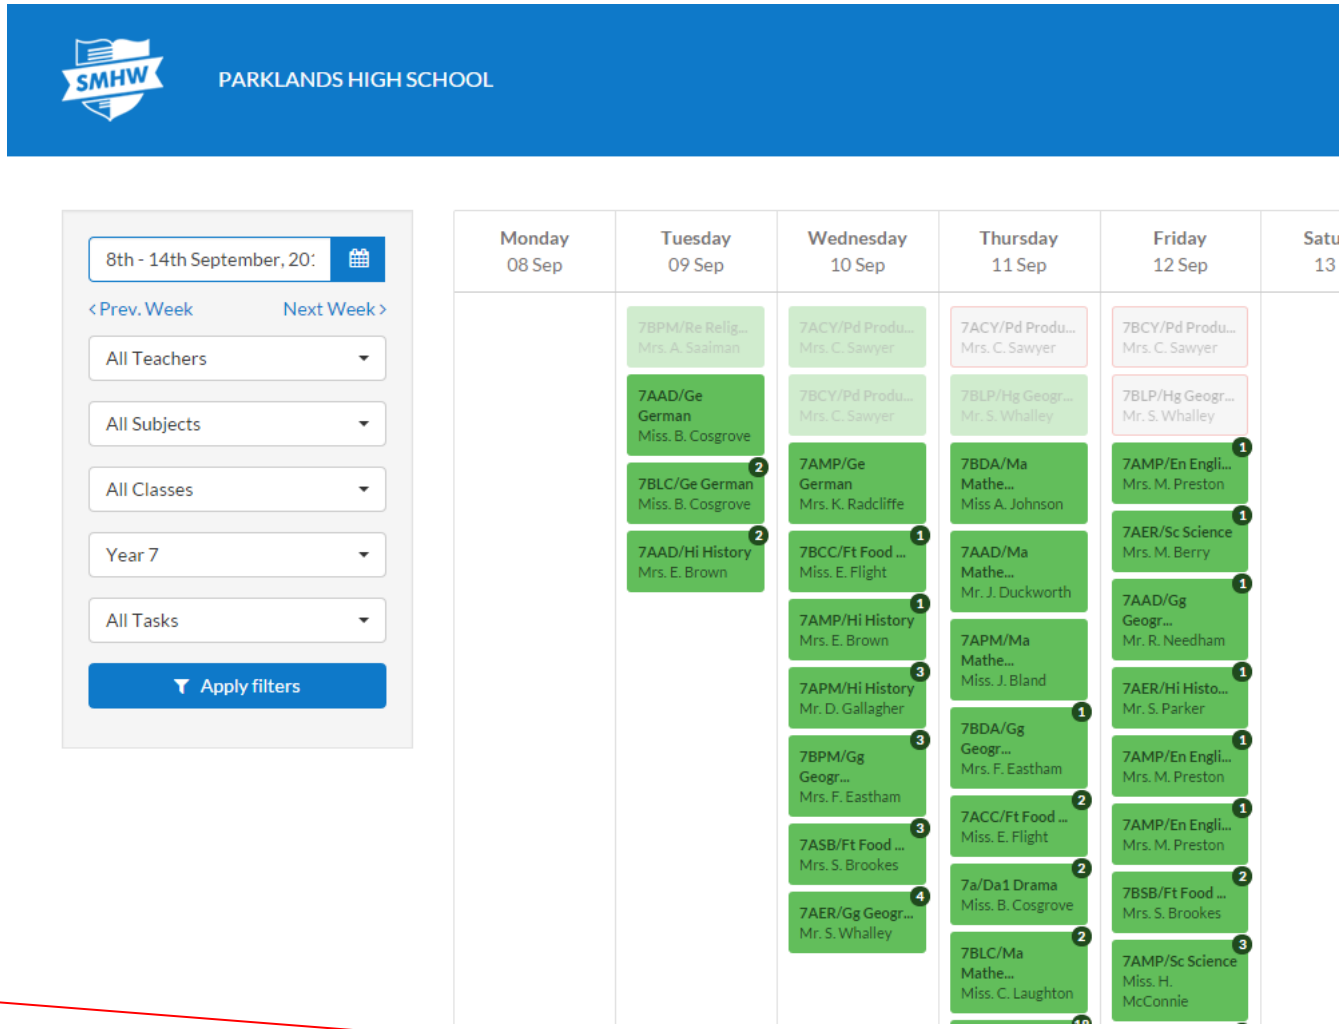
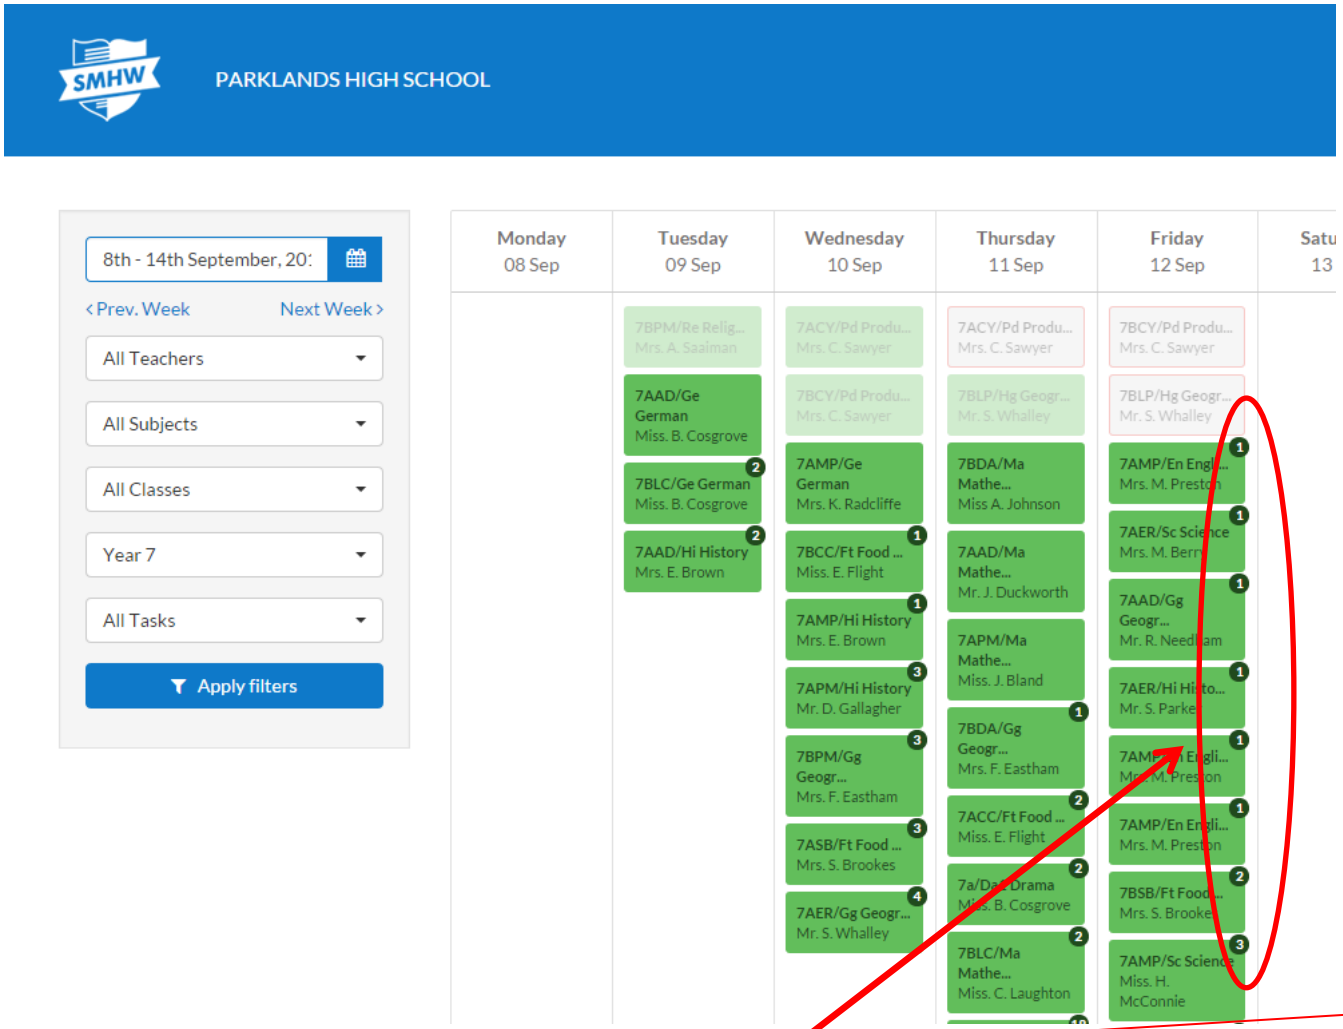
Welcome to Show My Homework!
Please select a teacher, subject, class or year to get started.
At this stage you can either login (more on that later) or filter



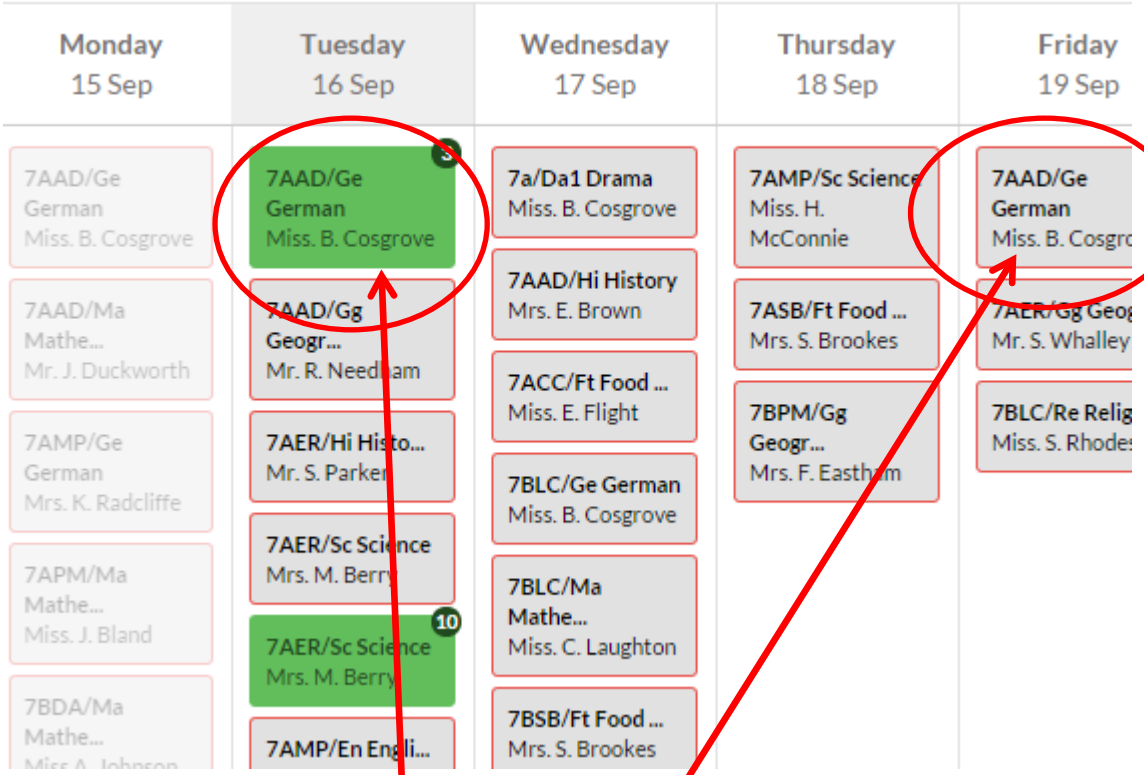
This is filtered for Year 7, so all the homework shown is for Year 7



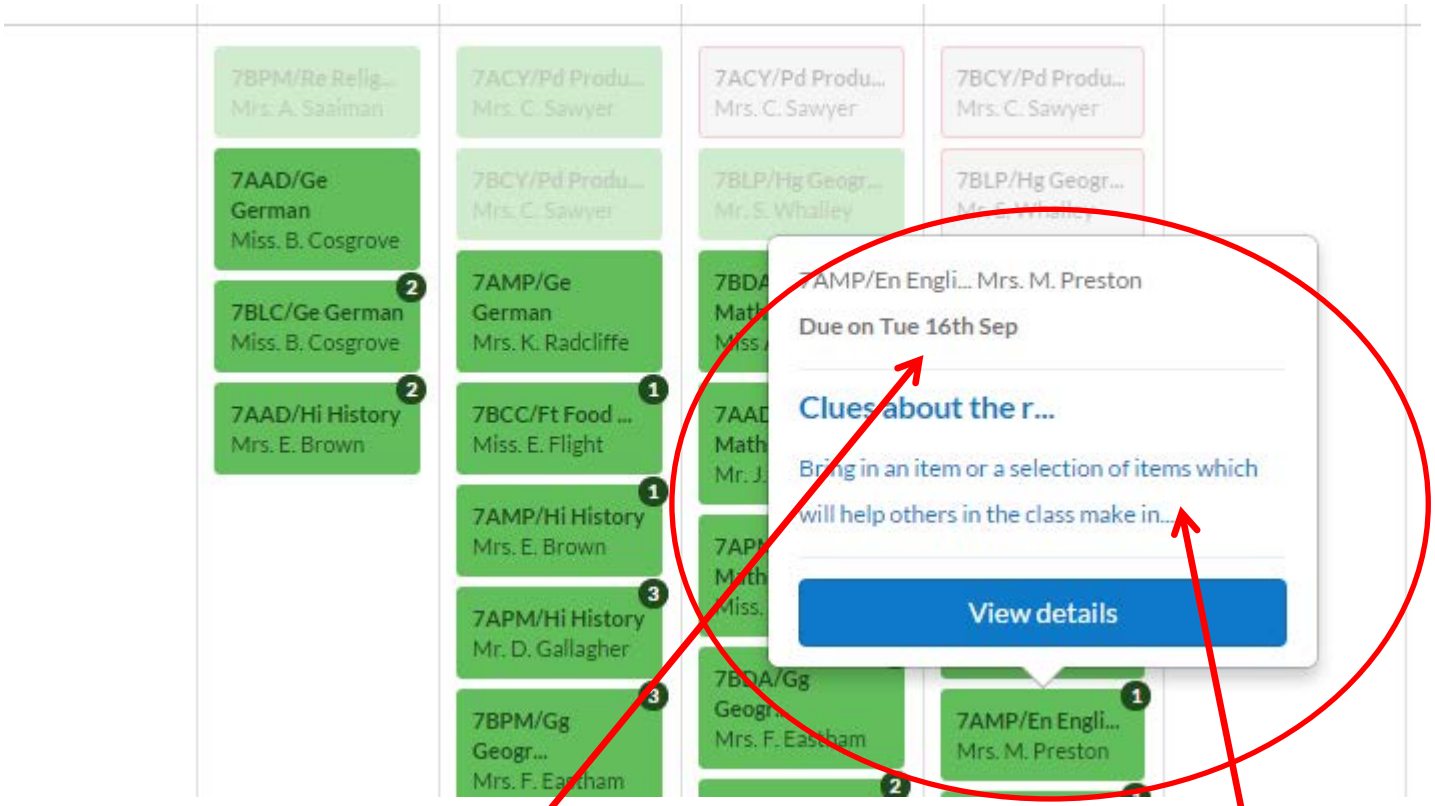
This is homework set last week.
Green means it was set on that day.



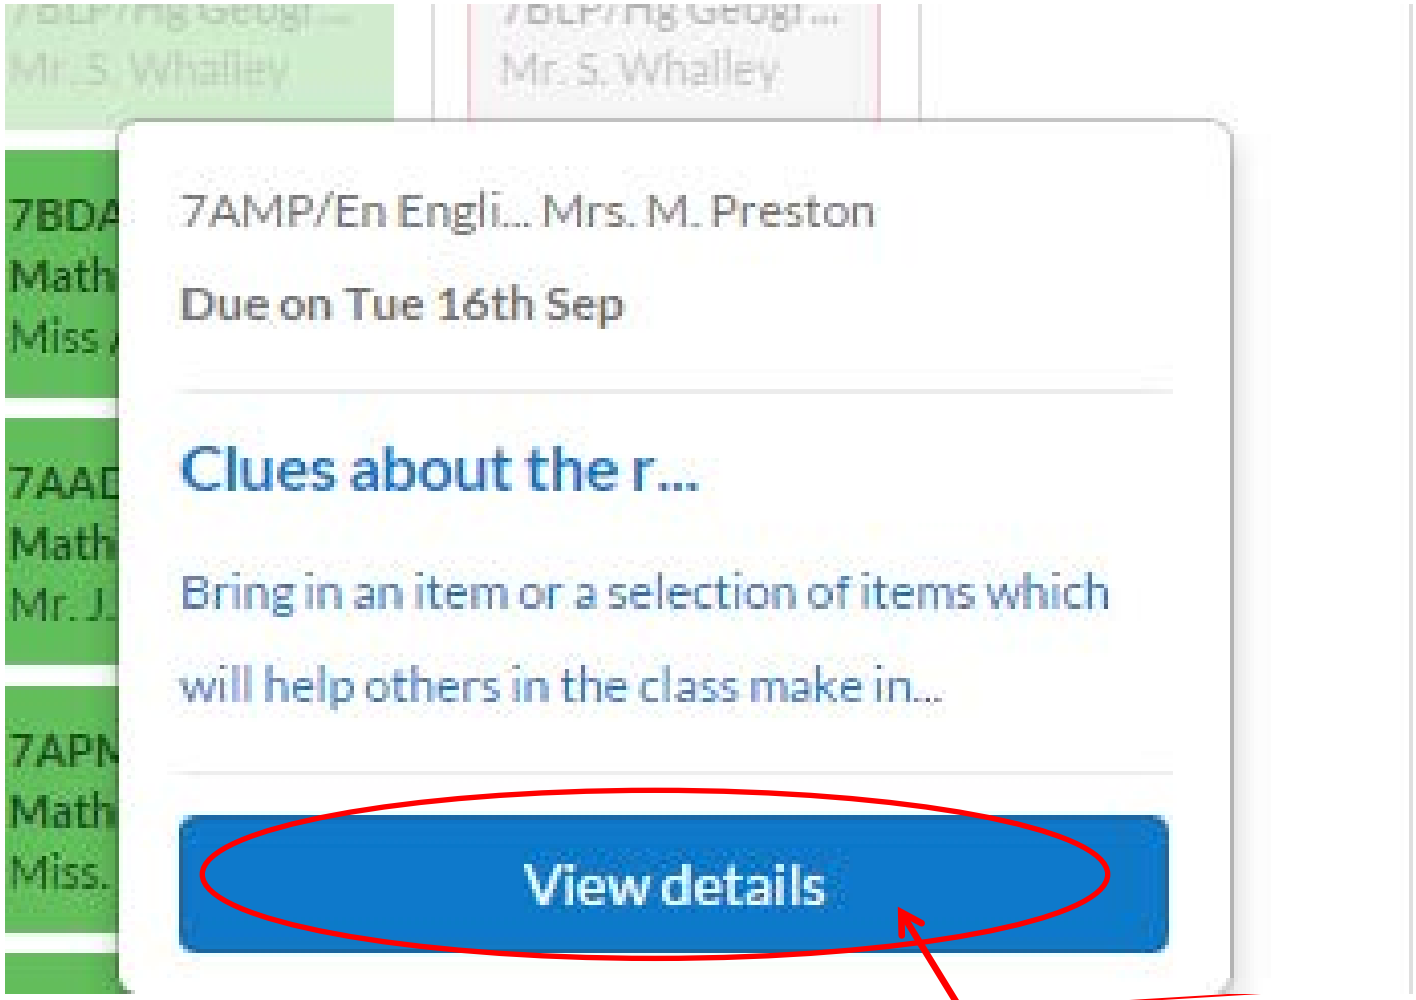
The numbers at the side indicate how many days you have left before homework is due in.



The grey boxes indicate homework due in on that day. So, the homework in green (circled) is due in as the homework in grey (circled).



Clicking on a specific homework allows you to see a due date and something about the homework.



If you want to see the homework in detail then you must click the View details button.

LEARNING JOURNEY

Independent Learning
To be inquisitive and seek to find answers.

Research
To organise information in the best way possible.

I ALREADY KNOW…
…the successes and failures of trench tactics

I AM LEARNING…

SO THAT I CAN…

…complete a labelled drawing of a trench.

…collaborate and team teach my peers about conditions in the trenches.

To UNDERSTAND the layout of a trench.

To work in groups and INVESTIGATE trench conditions.

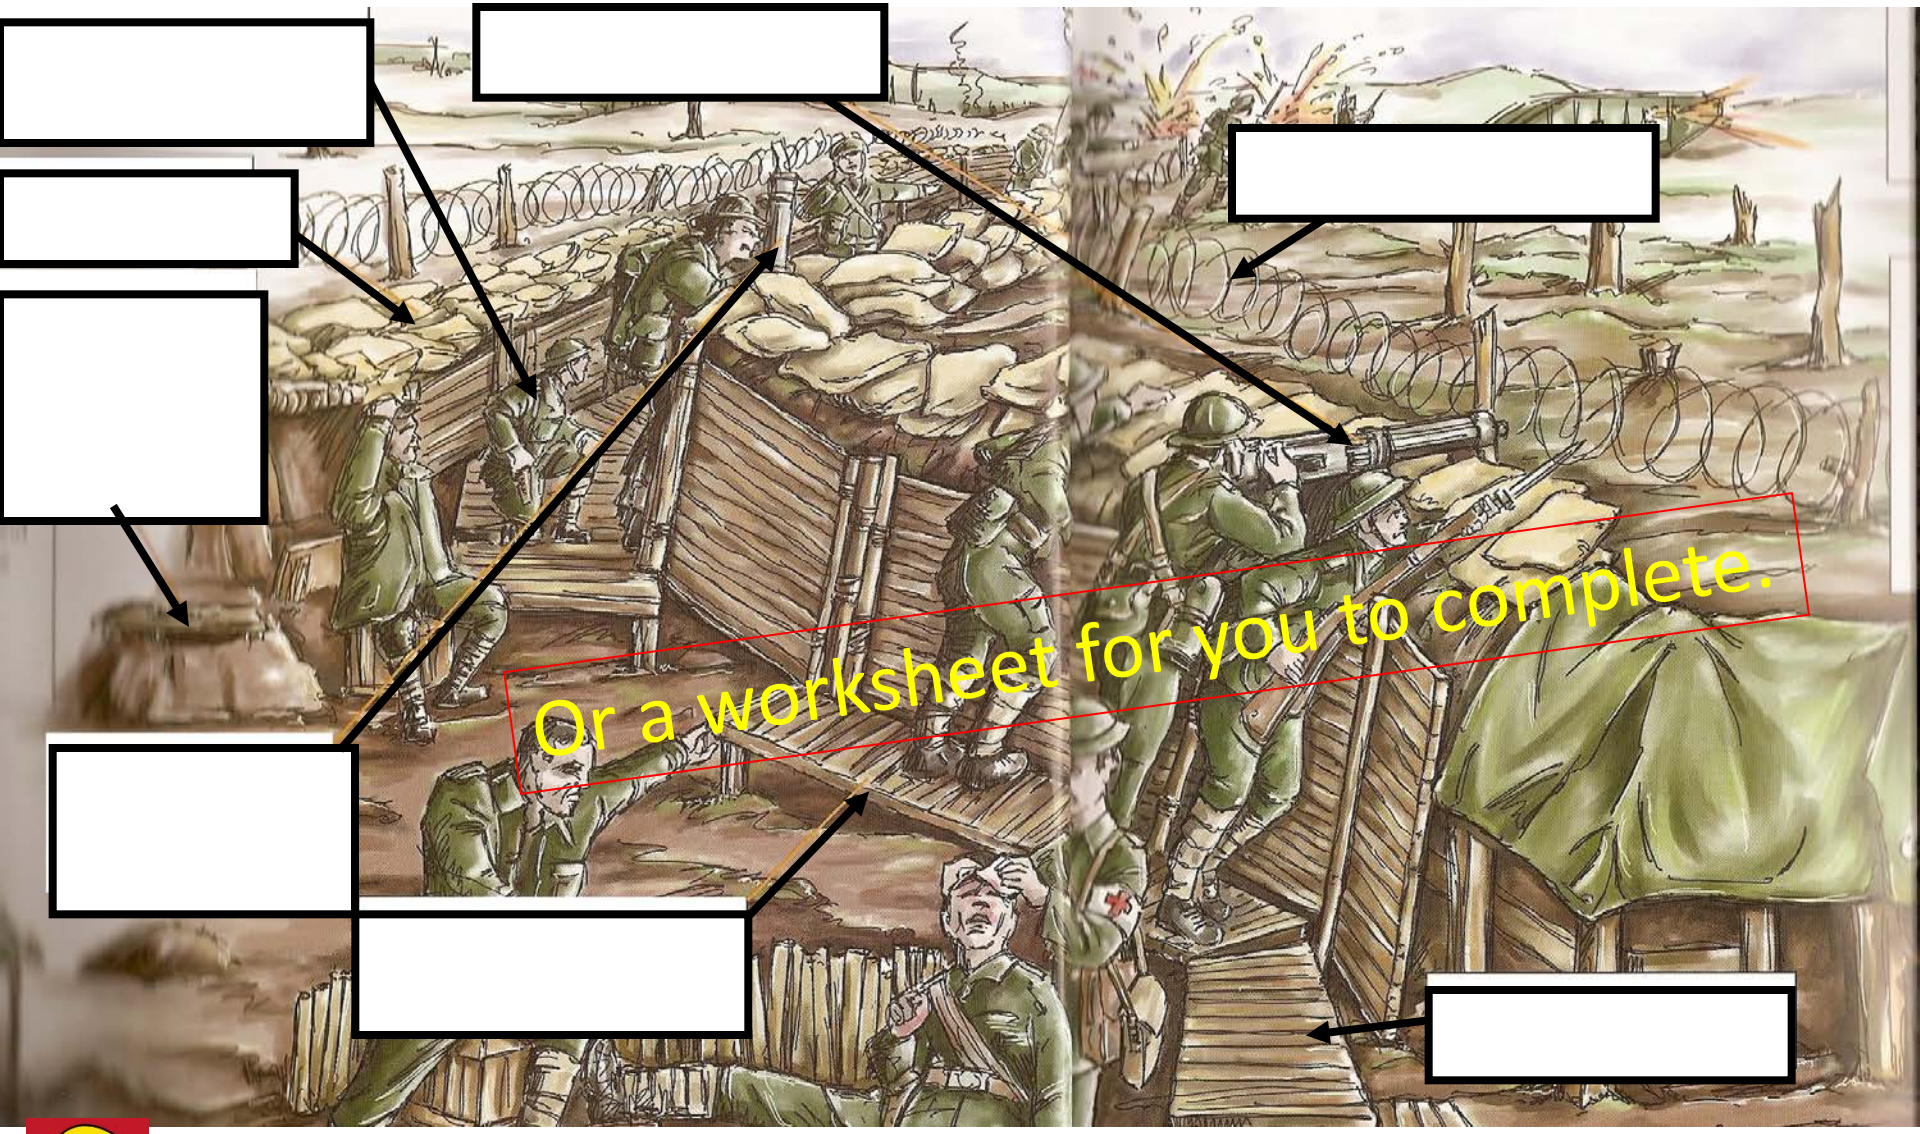
Or your learning objectives!

Key to lines

- Skills
- Subject knowledge
- Where to next?
- Where from?

Censorship

Label the features of trench



To UNDERSTAND the layout of a trench.

Homework

Using the sheet that you have completed today you must design an information blog about the weapons used in the Great War and conditions in the trenches.

You must include all of the weapons discussed in the previous lesson and should make your blog catchy and informative.

Due:

Weapons Section - Tuesday 11th March

Conditions in Trenches Section: Friday 21st March

Or your homework in more detail.

To work in groups and INVESTIGATE trench conditions.

Student - Dean Martin Form - ARG

am writing to tell you about the Show My Homework (SMHW), system that we use at Parklands to communicate between home and school and improve homework organisation for pupils. Hopefully, it also provides more opportunity for parents/carers to become involved in their own child's learning. SMHW is an on-line homework planner which provides important information about what homework has been set and when it is due, along with a facility to share resources.

In response to parental feedback through Ofsted's Parent View and Parents' Evening exit questionnaires, we trialled this product extensively last year. The overwhelming response was very positive and we have now adopted SMHW as our primary method of communicating homework set.

The SMHW website is an open access site and pupils and parents do not actually need to login to access homework that has been set. However, once you have accessed the SMHW website (from the link on the Parklands homepage), both you and your child can use the following login details to gain a more individualised overview of homework being set.
